Highlights

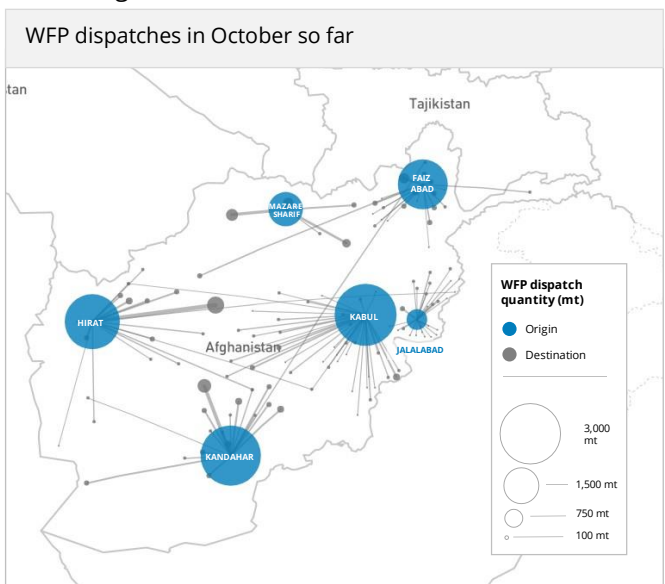

- Acute malnutrition is above emergency thresholds in 27 of 34 provinces and is rapidly worsening.
- WFP has already assisted 1.4 million beneficiaries in the first days of October.²
- WFP delivered 8,720 mt of food to cooperating partners in the previous week (3 to 9 October).
- UNHAS has conducted 106 flights since they resumed on 28 August, connecting seven locations and serving the humanitarian community of 160 organizations.

Situation Update

- The situation for children is especially alarming, with half of all children under five (3.2 million) expected to suffer from acute malnutrition. Acute malnutrition is above emergency thresholds in 27 of 34 provinces and is rapidly worsening.
- Food security is deteriorating sharply: just 5 percent of households are consuming enough food according to WFP's surveys.
 - Urban residents are suffering from food insecurity at similar rates to rural communities, who were ravaged by drought twice in the past three years.
 - Families with lower education levels are hardest hit by food insecurity, but more than 90 percent of households with high-school or university educations are also unable to afford enough food to feed their families.
- Almost no one has enough money to buy food.
 - Three out of four households now limit portion sizes; adults are eating less so their children can eat more.
 - Households headed by women are skipping meals, and reducing their portions far more than those headed by men.
 - WFP's latest market monitor shows that food and fuel prices remain significantly higher than the last week of July. This exerts greater pressure on families' ability to buy food.

WFP Response

- So far in October WFP has reached 1.4 million beneficiaries. In September it assisted 4 million people, including 2 million women and girls and 2 million men and boys. This was a three-fold increase from August (1.3m).
- WFP is scaling up to reach all 14 million people in need of emergency food and nutrition assistance by year's end.
- WFP's staff and partners delivered food and nutrition assistance to all 34 provinces to meet humanitarian needs, prevent and treat malnutrition, boost community resilience, encourage school attendance, and support women and girls.

- Nutrition: In 2021, WFP has so far assisted 398,048 pregnant and lactating women and 796,129 children under five with malnutrition prevention and treatment activities. WFP is treating moderate acute malnutrition by integrating with mobile health and nutrition teams in the most remote locations of the country. WFP and UNICEF are adding 100 new mobile health and nutrition teams to extend reach and continuity of services, bringing the total to around 200.
